EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 28.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—In the Senate, the tax bill came up. Sherman stated that the Finance Committee had agreed to let all income tax go, and as a substitute retain tax on gross receipts and on sugar, as now. The Senate struck out all income tax sections. Sherman offered a new section to continue the tax on corporations and salaries of Government officers during the year. Agreed to.

The Tariff section being reached, the amendment to strike out duty on all substitutes for coffee was agreed to. The amendment to strike out the paragraph of House bill classing duties on sugars was rejected by 23 to 30.

The death of Hon. David Heaton, member of the House from North Carolina, was announced, and the Senate took a recess.

In the House, Garfield reported from the Committee of Conference on the Currency bill, and said he would call it up to-morrow. In the Senate, at the evening session, an amendment by Stewart, authorizing the Southern Pacific Railroad of California to connect with the Pacific with a branch road was adopted; also an amendment by Sawyer that all iron and steel used shall be purchased in the United States. PARIS, June 27.—The abdication of Queen Isabella took place in the presence of all the Royal Family at Paris, and several Spanish grandees and generals. She previously read a formal address of farewell, and in a letter to the Pope, she asks his blessing for the Prince of Asturias and for Spain.

The Board of Health held their regular meeting at 11 o'clock to-day and adopted a series of Health Regulations carefully prepared by Mr. Nougues, the City and County Attorney, and Dr. Bates, the Health officer, and based mainly upon the provisions of the health and quarantine act passed by the last Legislature. The new regulations are very thorough and embrace sanitary measures compiled from the most approved systems in Europe and the United States. The anti-Coolie Committee were requested to call again next week, and went away under the apparent impression that they had been snubbed. The subject of the Potrero slaughter houses was considered, and upon the assurance that the butchers are rapidly and in good faith preparing to remove to their new quarters at Hunter's Point, they were allowed a few days more grace.

The new light at Cape Blanco is to be of the first order and be completed about November 1st. The work has been somewhat delayed through the loss of the schooner Bankalata, which went ashore at Blanco last month, resulting in a total loss of the lighthouse material on board. The Stow pavement, laid in 1868, on the corner of Powell and Ellis streets is found to be as badly rotted as any Nicolson. The impression is general that all wooden pavement thus far laid down in San Francisco is a failure.

Governor Salomon, of Washington Territory, leaves for the East to-morrow.

H. C. Hyde commenced suit to-day against the W. P. R. R. Co. in behalf of C. D. Bates & Co., from whom he claims $100,000 damages, alleging that defendants contracted to construct the W. P. R. R. from Alameda to Stockton and relet a portion to plaintiff, Bates & Co., to construct the road from Alameda till they should meet the Stockton party, and they did work under the contract to the amount of $51,203 69, and were paid $32,210 01, leaving $18,993 18 due them; that afterwards, by their agents Stanford, Crocker & Hopkins, defendants forcibly and with intent to ruin C. D. Bates & Co., withdrew 300 men from the road, together with animals, carts, harness and tools to the value of $15,000. He alleges that if Bates & Co. had been permitted to finish their contract they would have made $6,000 in gold coin.

It is positively asserted that Prince Pierre Bonaparte, who, it is asserted, arrived in New York incog., traveling under the name of Stevens, on the steamer Laurent, two weeks ago to-day, arrived here overland last evening, still traveling as Mr. Stevens. It is conjectured that he is en route for Tahiti. He is stopping at a prominent hotel. A gentleman who arrived on the same steamer with him is in the party, and several persons who knew him in France saw and talked with him to-day and will swear that there is no mistake in his identity, despite the apparent improbability of the statement. Official instructions are said to have been sent here denying his being in America until after his departure.

The lumber business is so depressed that manufacturers are talking of stopping the mills at the north for a time.

Lawyers have a ludicrous habit of identifying themselves with their clients by speaking in the plural number. "Gentlemen of the jury," said a western lawyer, "at the moment the policeman says he saw us in the trap I will prove that we were locked up in the station house, in a state of intoxication."

Hon. E. D. Holbrook

[From the Boise Statesman, June 21.]

The Hon. E. D. Holbrook, an account of whose tragic fate is given in another column, was born in Ohio, and at the time of his death was about thirty-four years of age. In 1858 he came to the Pacific coast, and for a brief period was engaged in the practice of law at Weaverville, Cal. In 1861 we hear of him at Walla Walla, and subsequently at Pierce City, Idaho. In 1863, when the gold excitement broke out in Boise Basin, he was among the first who started for the New El Dorado. In 1864 he was nominated and elected by the democratic party to represent our newly organized territory in the Congress of the United States. In 1866 he was re-elected by an overwhelming majority to the same honorable position. While in Congress he labored indefatigably for his friends in Idaho, and succeeded in having several appointed to offices of trust and emolument. At the same time he never lost sight of the interests of the territory at large; and although ever watchful after individual advancement, he always endeavored to impress upon the minds of those to whom he felt under personal obligations, that the people's interest were paramount to all things. To him the people of Idaho are indebted for the penitentiary now in process of erection, and the assay office, which is about to be commenced. He has also made efforts to secure for us a capitol and other public buildings so greatly needed in Idaho. In Mr. Holbrook the Democracy of Idaho have lost a leader whose void probably never will be filled. As a politician he was shrewd, wary and strategetic; as an orator, eloquent and impressive; a man of more than ordinary ability and intelligence, of indefatigable energy, ever watchful and vigilant, and leaving nothing undone which he had once undertaken. Although differing widely in politics, we ever considered him a foeman worthy of our steel, and probably no higher compliment could come from us than to admit that as a political enemy, he was feared and respected by all who opposed him. As a lawyer Mr. Holbrook gave a promise of a brilliant future, and although it is but recently since he entered the arena in Idaho as a competitor for legal honors, his rapidly increasing practice attested the estimation in which his ability was held by the community. If Mr. Holbrook had his enemies, we can truly say that no man in Idaho could boast of a larger circle of warm and devoted personal friends and faithful and attached political followers. His worst enemies were members of his own party, men who envied him his ability and success, and feared him for his influence over the masses. To his aged mother and sister in Ohio, to whom he never forgot his duty, we, in common with thousands, tender our condolence, and trust that we will never again be called upon to record so foul a deed.

The First Telegraphic Instrument.

An interesting relic of the early days of telegraphy has been discovered at Morristown, N. J. It is the first instrument by which messages were received and sent by the aid of the electric current. When Prof. Morse was experimenting on the power and capability of electricity as adapted to the transmission of words, he spent a large portion of his time at Morristown, where he was assisted by Alfred Vail, Esq., a practical machinist and inventor. At the Speedwell Iron Works of that town, then owned by the father of Mr. Vail, the experiments on the wires and on the construction of suitable instruments took place. On the completion of the experiments and the removal of Mr. Morse to Washington to bring his invention before Congress, Mr. Vail accompanied him, and, receiving the appointment of Assistant Superintendent of Telegraphs, was stationed at Baltimore, at the end of the experimental line. The instrument now at Morristown was one of two taken from Morristown by Morse and Vail; Morse using one at Washington, and Vail the other at Baltimore. The first message sent was the now well-known "What has God wrought," which Morse transmitted to Vail; but the first public message was the news of the nomination of Polk to the Presidency by the Baltimore Convention of 1844, sent by Vail to Morse. These instruments were in constant use for six years when Mr. Vail, returning to Morristown, brought his with him, and where it has still remained in the possession of his family. Mr. Vail dying soon after, his instrument was specially left by a clause in his will to his eldest son as an heir-loom, while parts of instruments made during the experimental trials were left to Prof. Morse, with a request that he would give them at some future day to the New Jersey Historical Society. The old instrument works as well as when first made, and on Saturday a message was sent to New York, and a reply received at Morristown. An excellent photograph of the instrument was also taken, and with this a visit was made to Prof. Morse in New York. The Professor was delighted to see the representation of the first instrument, having destroyed, as he said, the fellow instrument which he had used in 1844. He readily recognized it, and wrote a certificate across the picture as to its being a true photograph of the first instrument ever used to transmit public messages. He also expressed a wish that the photographs might be generally distributed, that it might be seen how little in essential points it differed with those now in use. With the exception of size and clumsiness, the instruments are almost exactly similar. The dimensions of the instrument are 14 inches in length, 7 inches in hight, 6 inches wide, with two magnets of three inch diameter. The paper used was 2¼ inches in width, three pens being proposed to be used. The weight of the instrument is 20 pounds.

REMARKABLE PEDESTRIAN FEAT OF A RUNAWAY BOY.—About ten o'clock Monday night, a youth of seventeen named Charles Thompson, hailing from 223 Rivington street, was brought to the station house at Newark, N. J., in a state of extreme exhaustion. While narrating his story to the officer in charge, Samuel York, to the effect that he was one of a party of twenty-four boys who went out last April to Iowa, in charge of an agent of the Emigration Society of New York; that in consequence of the hard usage and ill-treatment he received, he was obliged to run away, and that he had walked all the way back, he suddenly fell back and it was hours before he was restored to consciousness, and then only after great exertions on the part of the physician and others. He left New York, he says, on the 13th of April, arrived at a point on the Mississippi, in Iowa, on the 23d, and started on his return two days after. He and the others were driven into the field to hoe corn the afternoon of the day of their arrival, and cruelly overworked. The distance walked is about eleven hundred miles. It took him a little over six weeks to reach Newark, so that he averaged about twenty-four miles per day. He is of slender, wiry build, and his lacerated, blistered feet attest the truth of his story. He was still in Newark up to last evening, being much improved, but still too weak to proceed home.—N. Y. Telegram.

The brilliant Mr. Ruskin has hit upon a ... for putting a stop to all war. "If every lady," he says, "in the happy ... of civilized Europe simply vowed that, while any cruel war proceeds, she will wear black, a mute's black, with no jewel, no ornament, no invasion into prettiness, and I tell you that war would not last a week." Mr. Ruskin, however, most ungallantly tells the ladies of England that they are so selfish and utterly unconcerned about anybody outside of their immediate circles, that they would not wear the proposed symbols of grief more than forty-eight hours, whereas his scheme required a full week.

San Francisco and the Railroad—Government Island vs Mission Bay.

The following article from the Marysville (Cal.) Appeal will explain the allusions in recent dispatches to Government Island in San Francisco harbor, and the bill before Congress to cede it for the terminus of the Pacific railroad:

Washington advices indicate that the bill giving a portion of Goat Island to the Western Pacific Railroad Company will pass, upon a reconsideration of the vote by which it was defeated with only one majority. The Island is comparatively useless for other than depot purposes, but as the terminus of the overland railroad system it would be invaluable. In a railroad sense Goat Island is as near San Francisco as Mission Bay, and the terminus at the Island would be of as much benefit to the city as if it were fixed upon the tide lands, granted by the State, on the mud flats. Freight and passengers landed on the Island can reach San Francisco in as little time as from Mission Bay, while much of the through China and other traffic, from rail to water conveyance would be greatly accommodated by the improvement of the Island through the building of docks and wharves where freights could be easily transferred between car and ship at one handling. The lower portion of the city, embracing the old avenues of trade—Front, Battery, Davis and Sansome streets—are said to be favorable to the Goat Island terminus as a means of retaining trade where it has so long flourished and prevent its southward extension towards Rincon Hill and out Market street, and it is not unlikely that there will be, if there are not already, strong rival interests at work instigated through this cause. The trade of San Francisco is rapidly extending towards the southern part of the city, until the heavier houses, instead of being near the Custom House and steamboat landings, are crowding out to the southerly ends of Front, Battery, Sansome and Montgomery, up Market, and are beginning to loom up on First, Second and Third streets. It is believed by leading Front street men that the location of the terminus at the Island would at least retain to the old water front the business which it now enjoys, and would probably change the business tide back to that direction. From Goat Island to the San Francisco wharf the trip can be made by ferry in about five minutes and the goods landed at the doors of the largest warehouses in the city, while from Mission Bay to the center of trade the time consumed, signifying "distance" in railroad parlance, is much greater. The question as between these proposed termini is one of vast importance to the commercial interests of San Francisco. The Island contains, we believe, 124 acres of land, abundant to afford room for military defense on the north and northwest, while the remainder of the Island could be employed for depot purposes without in the least interfering with the military operations of the Government.

"PERSONALS."—The following happy hits at "personals" in certain metropolitan newspapers, we find in the Cincinnati Times:

Will the lady in the clipper-built sack, with moire antique spectacles, who bowed to a gentleman from a hand express on Fourth street yesterday afternoon, please send her address to ADORER.

If the gentleman who refused to lend me five dollars will repent and hand it in before 2 P. M. all will be forgiven, and no questions asked. YUBE.

If a lady remembers being bowed to by a gentleman standing on his head on the top of the Custom-house flag-staff yesterday will she grant him an interview?

Does a lady in bronze gaiters and a green umbrella, who rode down Central avenue this morning on a dray, remember a gentleman lying in the gutter who waved his cravat to her? Can he hope for her acquaintance. Y. NOT.

PROGRESS OF THE PACIFIC COAST INDIANS IN CIVILIZATION.—The Indian Bureau has received a letter from Lieutenant George D. Hill, through the Superintendent of Indian Affairs for Washington Territory, in which the writer says, under date of Tulalip April 5th:

The average attendance of the school under his charge may be fairly stated at 49—26 males and 23 females—the latter under the care of the Sisters of Charity. They receive a thorough course of instruction in all things pertaining to housekeeping, and the progress they are making reflects much credit upon themselves and the Sisters who supervise them, and are quite reformed in their habits of cleanliness and industry. In the manual labor department they are also progressing, though the clearing of land is extremely laborious for children of their age. It is surprising the amount of work they perform, and the good will with which they go at it is very encouraging. In closing his report he says that some of his old pupils who have married since they left the school, and have always conducted themselves properly, and by their industry endeavor to support themselves and families, are in his opinion, the only Indians from whom any good may be expected, and that if there were some appropriation made for them it would tend to secure the solid success of the future generations among the Indians.

THE RAILWAY WAR—REDUCTION OF FREIGHTS.—The New York Herald June 19, says:

The Erie-Vanderbilt fight goes bravely on. Only two or three days have elapsed since the Commodore notified President Gould that Erie coupon tickets would no longer be accepted on the Buffalo and Niagara road. Yesterday a contract was signed in the Erie office for the construction and completion of a new line to the Falls within ninety days. This would seem to be substantial evidence of the energetic manner in which Gould and Fisk have taken up the great Commodore's challenge.

Mr. Vanderbilt yesterday reduced his rates on cattle from Buffalo to Albany and New York via the Central and Hudson River lines, from $120 per car to $40. This will probably compel the Erie people to make a similar reduction. It is reported that the Commodore has recently sold a large amount of his stock, and it is asserted in certain quarters that his great rival, Admiral Fisk, has been the purchaser.

The Admiral and Mr. Daniel Drew were closeted together in a private apartment at the Erie office the entire forenoon of yesterday, and at the close of the interview it was manifest that a satisfactory arrangement had resulted.

Another Slander

Somebody in Yamhill county writes to the Herald a doleful tale of the manner in which he was [illegible] in that [illegible] legal [illegible] Here is an instance

Not only did they the Republicans use bad whisky but they must have used drugs as men were made perfectly crazy after taking a dose or two of the abominable stuff One man who was drugged and taken to the polls and made to vote the Republican ticket says that he has no knowledge of anything that passed He says that he was all right and perfectly at himself and was invited to take a drink, and that as soon as he had taken the drink he became perfectly wild So after he was invited to take a second drink and soon again a third Then he remembers feeling wild perfectly wild that he left the grocery went into his own yard and seemed perfectly frantic, that he jumped his yard fence with perfect ease something that he could not some anything like doing had he not been under the influence of drugs that he recollects starting to the polls and remembers reaching there but has no recollection of anything that transpired for the remainder of the day notwithstanding his vote is on record for the Republican party and that he had a fight and was considerably worsted in the contest

'If the rascal,' said the redoubtable Sir John Falstaff, "have not given me medicines to make me love him, I'll be hanged it could not be else, I have drunk medicines." It appears from the doleful story of the Yamhill writer that Democrats up there were quite as ready to take a little something with something in it, as that huge bombard of sack old Falstaff was, when in company with Poins whom he accused of "drugging him According to confessions published in the Herald there are two influences which Democrats cannot withstand In Multnomah county they were corrupted with money In Yamhill they were corrupted with whisky We want it understood that we don't believe a word of it. The Yamhill writer, like the editor of the Herald is without doubt slandering the party Besides the story is absurd on its face If a Democrat should take the second and the third drink of whisky and become "wild perfectly wild jump his yard fence, and 'get into a fight and get worsted,'" the last thing on earth that he would do while in such a condition would be to vote a Republican ticket The Yamhill story is a most wanton and inexcusable slander upon the Democratic party And here again we enter our protest against such calumnies

Wanted, a Railroad.

Why did Mr Ladd and other wealthy gentlemen here make such a tremendous uproar about railroads before the election and profess to make a fight for Portland and her interests, if they are not now going to put money into the west side road? From the noise they made before the election one would have supposed that they would not now be holding back their aid from that much needed enterprise If they were not intending to do anything it was very unfortunate for them to have agitated the subject, and very unjust to the country besides People had a right to expect, from the earnestness they manifested and the solicitude they expressed that they would take hold of the enterprise at once But now instead of putting their money in it, they appoint a committee to solicit subscriptions from the public to build the road. Can't they put into the railroad a little of the energy they manifested in the election? Fifty thousand dollars is no great sum for them, and this sum it is said will secure the construction of twenty miles of the road. Come, gentlemen, the road is wanted, and you have placed yourselves in such a position in relation to it that the public have a right to expect you to push ahead If you do not do it now the public will cease to expect you to lead in any undertaking for the benefit and development of Oregon and cease to regard you as representatives of the energy and enterprise of the State In short the time has now come to "put up or shut up" Are you going to verify the old familiar saying, that before and after the election are two different things?

The Freebooting Policy.

There are those who delight to talk about a "bold and aggressive foreign policy for the United States" The phrase in its best sense is a good one, but in the sense in which these persons who would have the United States intermeddling everywhere employ it, it is both absurd and wicked The New York Times truly says of these bold and aggressive people" of whom a few demagogues of both parties stand as representatives,—' They would make the United States godfather to every colony in which disaffection exists and intermeddler in general in the concerns of the universe. We should never be without a foreign war on our hands, if these impulsive patriots had their way. We should be Ishmaelites with our hands against all other nations, and all other nations against us It is hardly necessary to say that this is not a policy which the Republican party can afford to champion We have enough proper business of our own to attend to without plunging into foreign complications From the dangers which statesmen of the Banks school would precipitate upon the party, we hope to be saved by the cautiousness and good sense of the President and the majority in Congress These may be relied upon to show that it is possible to play an effective part in the affairs of the world, without converting the American Government into a general intermeddler and that the truest method of fulfilling national destiny is to make the United States a model of national contentment and prosperity "

Now that the attention of the people is attracted anew to the west side railroad enterprise and that there are fresh hopes that the enterprise will be revived the managers should take the opportunity to give full information to those who have aided the work regarding the disposition of the moneys and property that have been contributed to carry it on A letter appeared in this paper two or three days since, signed Portlander which touched the core of the matter Will the managers respond? It would be interesting to those who have contributed to know just what use has been made of their contributions

It is shown by the New York Tribune that the monthly decrease in the debt is not the only encouraging financial statement we receive showing that the country, under a wise Administration is hastening to resumption and consequent prosperity The commercial statistics for nine months of the current fiscal year show that we have imported $6 000 000 less and exported $45 000 000 more than during the same time in 1868 9 and moreover, the increase of imports and exports carried in American vessels has been marked and significant.

The Fourth will be celebrated at Walla Walla, and a bountiful dinner will be prepared.

A New View of the Ohio Platform.

We have a fresh interpretation of the Ohio Democratic platform from the [illegible] Cincinnati Enquirer [illegible] the leading Democratic paper of that State The silence of the platform on the debt has been everywhere noticed but now comes the Enquirer and informs us that this silence does not mean that the Democracy of Ohio are in favor of paying the debt It avers that a large and perhaps controlling section of the party here and in the West are for open [illegible] to its statement [illegible]

The Democracy [illegible] are now divided and only divide on the point whether any portion of the debt should be paid at all A large and perhaps a controlling section of the party here and in the West are for open and undisguised repudiation Another division adheres to the old views, and favors the payment with greenbacks not paying gold but greenbacks worth what they were when the debt was taken The diversity of sentiment was such that it was not thought advisable to make any distinct declaration at this time

The Cincinnati Gazette observes that the silence of the platform is compensated by the frankness of the Ohio organ No section of the Western Democracy is for honest payment The only question is whether to repudiate squarely, or by the juggle of issuing legal tender notes And again The Ohio Democracy are determined to throw off the debt altogether, and therefore their platform did not intend to allow any means of paying either interest or principal

Further, the Democratic organ of Ohio remarks The Democracy are for a low tariff and little or no revenue because in the first place, they are for ridding themselves of a considerable portion of the public debt The first question is how to diminish and throw it off altogether

These revelations place the Ohio platform in a new light It appears that the Democratic party of that State is really as earnest for repudiation as the Democratic party of Oregon They who have been trying feebly to deny that the Democratic party throughout the West would repudiate the national debt may chew upon the declarations of the principal organ of that party in the great State of Ohio

A New Dodge in Advertising

The business of advertising has been advanced to the rank of a science How to advertise is a trick known to but few Success in that direction depends a great deal on a competent knowledge of the art of putting things In Sheridan's Rehearsal Puff who appears to be master of his art, classifies its different branches thus ' The puff direct the puff preliminary the puff collateral the puff collusive, and the puff oblique or puff by implication Most of these varieties appear in one way or another in advertisements and Puff discourses upon each of them with great aptness and volubility The puff oblique or puff by implication, he tells us is too various and extensive to be illustrated by an instance ' It may be lurking almost anywhere and make its appearance when least expected It is the puff oblique that has occasionally appeared in the editorials of a newspaper published in this city, in which East Portland has been extolled as the coming city and Portland spoken of as a future rat hole Speculators in East Portland property displayed a good deal of tact in getting a paper to advertise for them in this way The art or science of advertising is certainly advancing when puffs of East Portland property are made to lurk in editorials written ostensibly against East Portland and in favor of this city

"The Bravest Hero of Them All"

The ladies of Baltimore, who hold the Southern cause in grateful remembrance decorated the graves of the Confederate dead in the cemeteries of that city on the 8th inst. The St Louis Republican, a Democratic paper contains the following account of the affair

But the grave that exceeded all the rest in its profuse decorations was that of J Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln Upon this green mound there was a pyramid of flowers This tribute of affectionate regard was not laid upon the assassin's grave by the surviving members of his own family or any of his kindred By the side of him sleeps his illustrious father and around him are the graves of near relations but upon these there was not a single bud. This was the day set apart to do honor to the Southern soldiers and if the richness and profusion of the emblems is to be taken as the measure of affection in which the deceased soldiers are held J Wilkes Booth is the bravest hero of them all

In commenting on this a contemporary well says We could appreciate and have respect for the honors bestowed by the Southern ladies upon the graves of those brave but misguided men who fell upon the battle field —fighting for what they absurdly called 'Southern rights, but for them thus to bestow their wealth of affectionate remembrances upon the last resting place of a sneaking coward a lurking assassin, a cold blooded murderer, is something that is shocking to the civilization of the age Such attempts to consecrate one of the blackest and most dastardly crimes in the calendar of modern times, must even disgust those who were engaged in battling for the 'lost cause They at least gave and received blows bravely, and they must in their hearts despise an assassin and a coward, such as J Wilkes Booth proved himself to be The ladies of Baltimore have not elevated themselves in the estimation of the country

The visit of Spotted Tail and his brethren at Washington is taken advantage of by the correspondents for the quotation of yards and yards of "Hiawatha, and no end of panegyrics from various writers on the noble savage It is devoutly to be hoped that another Indian delegation will not soon visit the National Capital

It appears from the published returns that the imports at Victoria during the quarter ending 25th March 1870 amounted to $330 585 20 The quarter is not one during which breadstuffs and agricultural productions usually come in most freely yet a diminution in some of these items is discernable For instance, there were only $6 worth of eggs $4 worth of hay $46 worth of hops and $303 61 worth of wheat

The subjoined paragraph we cut from the San Francisco Bulletin of the 18th inst There is great distress among servant girls of San Francisco just now In numerous instances their mistresses are hard hearted enough to want their company for a short trip to the country and they are obliged to throw up their situations to avoid going We have heard of several cases of nurses declining to sacrifice themselves to the whims of their employers, and giving notice rather than endure a month's banishment to rural solitude A lady thus deserted applying for a new nurse had 15 applications for the vacancy only two of whom were willing to go into the country temporarily have their board paid at a watering place and get free the pleasure of an excursion which most of our citizens cannot afford The London Telegraph may well say that California is the paradise of servant girls "

CITY

[illegible] When [illegible] the farmers of Oregon [illegible] experience [illegible] seems that he learns [illegible] We have [illegible] and [illegible] wheat for [illegible] A week [illegible] the agents of certain wheat loading [illegible] Liverpool [illegible] The moment that parties here [illegible] for base [illegible] up the valley known that wheat had risen in price at [illegible] Liverpool so as to justify shipment and that parties [illegible] the experiment every [illegible] was suddenly [illegible] bought for granary [illegible] and not a bushel of wheat could be bought [illegible] price had been less than a dollar where [illegible] The farmers only [illegible] with the idea that [illegible] to be and only [illegible] up a fancy price wheat was immediately [illegible] about to speculate and that somebody [illegible] They were not to be [illegible] in the article they were too [illegible] in that way they were going to [illegible] for that they were [illegible] themselves [illegible] some of [illegible] advantages [illegible] no wheat could be had [illegible] rise in wheat [illegible] farmers didn't care the [illegible] less than a dollar [illegible] whether they sold at that figure [illegible] of a finger whether they [illegible] and got a [illegible] were quite [illegible] The consequence was that [illegible] dollar and a quarter [illegible] Liverpool had to be withdrawn the vessel up [illegible] lumber for South America [illegible] The other vessel here will likely be compelled [illegible] to change her destination [illegible] opportunity [illegible] for some coast [illegible] Here was an opportunity [illegible] at a better [illegible] for cash [illegible] than has been had for a year The [illegible] is thrown away by the most stupid and [illegible] policy and now the farmers will haul [illegible] their grain [illegible] for eighty five [illegible] can sell in [illegible] cents per bushel part [illegible] eighty seven [illegible] and part cash They could have got fully [illegible] in clean cash from the Liverpool [illegible] for every surplus bushel in the State [illegible] some of the farmers please sit down and [illegible] up how much they have made? Let them [illegible] into the account the fact that they have by [illegible] suicidal policy not only lost the chance of [illegible] an immediate cash sale but they have refused an opportunity to widen their grain market [illegible] them take into the account the fact that every [illegible] of grain sold to a foreign country adds to [illegible] the actual wealth of the country by so much as the total price of the cargo a fact which cannot [illegible] reckoned if the same cargo be sold to a coast [illegible] Let them take account of the fact that [illegible] every cargo sold to Liverpool betters the chance of getting a good price hereafter in our coast markets for what we have left. Let them reckon up all these things and tell us what they have gained by popping up the price and thus barring the way to sales at any price One of the Liverpool ships has already gone and the other is likely to go, without a bushel of wheat and San Francisco is the only market in which the farmers can sell This particular instance would not call especially for these remarks, had not similar instances occurred frequently in the past. So invariably have the farmers adopted the plan of popping up prices upon the happening of a little increased inquiry that buyers here hardly dare go into the country even if only a small lot be wanted lest the farmers should take wing and soar on expectation clear out of sight. The policy of the Oregon farmer is to sell when he can get a good price without waiting to get a [illegible] one and to sell out clean if he has a chance just on the eve of harvest It is certainly suicidal policy to put the price up so high as to drive buyers entirely out of the market and thus kill all chance of selling

BOARD OF TRADE —There will be a meeting this evening at the Portland Library rooms, of merchants, for the purpose of organizing a Board of Trade. This is an important matter and should engage the attention of every business man of the city, no matter what line of trade he may be in. The business of Portland has expanded to such proportions that some trade regulations seem to be almost indispensable to secure uniformity and to protect the several though somewhat mutual interests of importers jobbers intermediate dealers, producers and consumers The business of city has gone on too long in a loose jointed and unorganized way Merchants who have done business in any of the cities where there are Boards of Trade, Merchants Exchanges and similar organizations will hardly need to be reminded of the advantages to be gained through such institutions while others need only to be pointed to the exact system upon which mercantile business is transacted in New York, Boston Chicago, or wherever else like associations exist. Beside the direct advantages to the merchants, a Board of Trade will be the means of advertising the commercial importance of the city as no individual enterprise could possibly do it We understand that some of the most responsible men of the city are engaged in this movement and there seems to be no room for doubt that the proposition will at once be carried into execution

VANCOUVER TRANS[illegible] COMPANY —Yesterday we accidentally ran upon Mr W H Troup, formerly of the steamer [illegible] Troup and found him with a model of a hull of a steamboat. Bringing into play our natural and professional inquisitiveness we soon learned that a joint stock company had been formed at Vancouver to build a small steamboat 100 feet long and 20 feet beam —to ply between Vancouver and Portland The Company comprises besides Mr Troup some of the most substantial moneyed men of Vancouver who propose to immediately build the steamer and if circumstances ask [illegible] warrant another one or two [illegible] from [illegible] and down the Columbia By the sale of the [illegible] Troup to the O S N Co Mr T [illegible] was thrown [illegible] employment at an age [illegible] of [illegible] ones [illegible] in [illegible] ready [illegible] we are glad to find him afloat again

[illegible] POLICY —When will the farmers of [illegible] learn to pursue a sensible policy? It re[illegible] seems that the lessons of experience mostly [illegible] that the teachings of practi[illegible] nothing, and that the [illegible] were fall upon deaf ears. We have [illegible] which will fairly illustrate h w [illegible] farmers are to take exactly the wrong [illegible] A week or two ago something was as d [illegible] loading a couple of vessels with wheat for [illegible] but prior to this the agents of certain [illegible] who had received orders had g ne [illegible] to purchase. The moment that it [illegible] that wheat had risen in price at [illegible] shipment and that par [illegible] to try the experiment every [illegible] the valley was suddenly locked up [illegible] of wheat could be bought for [illegible] where before the price had been [illegible] to 75 cents per bushel. The farmers [illegible] suddenly seized with the idea that [illegible] immediately going up to fancy prices [illegible] somebody was about to speculate in [illegible] the article. They were not to be [illegible] that way they were too [illegible] they were going to [illegible] the advantages themselves [illegible] of the [illegible] So, no wheat could be had [illegible] dollar, and farmers didn't care the [illegible] whether they sold at that figure [illegible] content to wait awhile and get a [illegible] The consequence was that [illegible] for Liverpool had to be withdrawn, [illegible] to load with lumber for South Amer[illegible] the other vessel here will likely be compell[illegible] destination, also and to load lum[illegible] port. Here was an opportunity [illegible] two ship loads of wheat at a better [illegible] has been had for a year. The [illegible] thrown away by the most stupid and [illegible] and now if the farmers will haul [illegible] or pay freight on it to Portland [illegible] in limited quantities, for eighty five [illegible] and a half cents per bushel part [illegible] part cash! They could have got fully [illegible] cash from the Liverpool [illegible] surplus bushel in the State. [illegible] the farmers please sit down and [illegible] how much they have made? Let them [illegible] the fact that they have, by [illegible] not only lost the chance of [illegible] cash sale, but they have re[illegible] to widen their grain market [illegible] the account the fact that every [illegible] sold to a foreign country adds to [illegible] of this country by so much as [illegible] of the cargo—a fact which cannot [illegible] the same cargo be sold to a coast [illegible] take account of the fact that [illegible] to Liverpool betters the chance [illegible] good price hereafter in our coast [illegible] we have left. Let them reckon [illegible] and tell us what they have [illegible] up the price and thus barring [illegible] at any price. One of the Liver[illegible] already gone and the other is like[illegible] a bushel of wheat and San [illegible] the only market in which the [illegible] all. This particular instance [illegible] for these remarks, had [illegible] occurred frequently in the [illegible] have the farmers adopted [illegible] up prices upon the happen[illegible] inquiry, that buyers here [illegible] the country even if only a [illegible] last the farmers should take [illegible] expectation clear out of sight [illegible] Oregon farmer is to sell when [illegible] price without waiting to get a [illegible] and to sell out clean if he has a [illegible] of harvest. It is certainly [illegible] to put the price up so high as to [illegible] out of the market and thus [illegible]

POLITICAL ITEMS

Impending Crisis Helper, who claims to be a Conservative Republican announces himself as a candidate for Congress from the Charlotte (N C) district

Reliable information from Washington states that Indiana will have two Congressmen at large to elect under the new Congressional apportionment bill

Chicago has a new Democratic paper, which starts off with an elaborate protest against negro suffrage. It is to be hoped it will grow wiser as it grows older

A call has been published in Pennsylvania for an informal Convention of active Republicans from all the minority counties in the State to meet in Philadelphia on the 4th of July for consultation and co operation

"The men who sold out were not all of the class known as floaters and bummers but many of them have made claims to respectability and called themselves patriots" This says the Vancouver Register is the Oregon Herald's opinion of the best class of Democrats. What must the lower class be? Nice party that!

A Texas paper asserts that the bitterest Radical in the Legislature of that State is an ex Confederate General who went to Brazil at the close of the war because he would not live under the hated Government of the Yankees. He is wiser now than he was at the close of the war

In his speech, accepting a re-nomination from the Republican Convention of the Fifth District of Iowa, Congressman Palmer said "Let no man deceive himself with the idea that this Republican party is to be broken to pieces on the rock of financial or any other question. Individual members of the party may be stranded upon those rocks, but the party—never"

A Virginia correspondent says there will be a redivision of the Congressional districts of the State made early in the fall session of the Legislature, if it is found impracticable to do so sooner. Many members desire to have the benefit of the census which is now being taken, and advance sheets of which can probably be had by the middle of October—in time to make an accurate rearrangement of the districts

Pennsylvania's present delegation in the House of Representatives at Washington consists of seventeen Republicans and seven Democrats. The Republicans were elected by majorities ranging from 144 to 6,319 the Democratic majorities being from 41 up to [illegible] 665. Five districts—the fifth tenth, thirteenth sixteenth and twenty-first—are very close. This however is subject to change by the present census

A Ride on a Thunderbolt

[From the Pittsburg Dispatch June 10th]

One of the strangest accidents that we have been called upon to record for some time occurred on Wednesday night, about 11 30. We learn that at that hour our well known citizen, Dr G W Spencer was driving from the city to his residence in the Fourteenth Ward, or rather Oakland, where the gentleman resides. Mrs Spencer had been to a rehearsal of the Cantata Society and the lady was accompanying her husband when the accident occurred

The Doctor was driving home in a buck wagon, drawn by two horses and was caught in the storm that raged on the evening referred to, when but a short distance past the Soho bridge on Fifth avenue. Proceeding at a fast gait, in order to escape the increasing tempest, the Doctor had just passed the turn into the Oakland road when there came a terrific flash of lightning quickly followed by thunder. Such was the force of the shock which must have entered the earth immediately in the Doctor's vicinity that for an instant, he literally knew nothing being completely stunned. He recovered himself in a moment however and observed that one of his horses was on the ground and at the same time that his wife who but a moment before was by his side was missing

In an instant he jumped out of the vehicle and, retracing his steps in the drenching rain what was his astonishment to find Mrs Spencer sitting in the road about thirty feet behind the wagon. He at once picked her up and was no little surprised to learn that she had no bones broken nor was she at all injured. His house was not far distant and the Doctor at once accompanied his wife to the home when he left Mrs Spencer, and obtaining aid returned to the scene of the accident. The horse that had fallen was still upon the ground while the other was quietly standing by his side [illegible] thinking that the stable leaked [illegible] if not more. The harness (a splendid new set) was [illegible] and the [illegible] animal was taken home. The other horse after considerable trouble was able to stand and one of the employees was leading him toward the stable, when nearing a deep [illegible] on the road the horse again fell to the ground but did not stop until he landed at the foot of the hill. From this predicament the animal was successfully rescued and strange to say was able to walk to the stable. Here the harness was being taken off when it was discovered that the animal could not open his mouth—that in fact he had the lockjaw

In this condition the poor brute existed all day yesterday and when heard from last [illegible] was still living but had not opened his mouth

The singular part of the accident is that Mrs Spencer [illegible] the slight [illegible] the Doctor. They were driving along moderately just when the flash of lightning descended and that is all Mrs Spencer or the Doctor knew until the one found herself sitting in the mud and the other minus his [illegible]. It is with great pleasure we record the fact that neither the Doctor nor his estimable wife were injured

Quincy Illinois has a very precise census taker Some years ago he finished his work at night with 914 names, but next morning one infant having been added to the population during the night he corrected his list and gave 915 as a final report

Some white gentlemen who took seats in the colored men's car on the Georgia Railroad the other day were invited to another car by the conductor as the two colored passengers objected to white gentlemen sitting and smoking in their car

The whole cotton crop of last year including corrections for overland receipts at the Eastern mills and 90 000 bales estimated for Southern consumption manufactured at the place of growth, is now expected according to the Financial Chronicle to exceed 3 200 000 bales. The accounts of the new plant continue favorable from nearly all the Cotton States

Chicago has a new church—the First Congregational—which has just been finished at a cost of $190 000. A peculiarity of this church is that the reading desk or pulpit is provided with a copper speaking trumpet which is connected with eleven pews where, with rubber hose and cup attached the deaf may enjoy a sermon as well as those who are not so unfortunate

Hearth & Home for June 25th, contains the first of a series of sketches entitled Jethro Throop's Night Thoughts by John Thomas, who is no other than Petroleum V Nasby. The great humorist will take an honest country boy to the city conduct him through the usual experience and restore him to his home a sadder and a wiser boy satisfied that the peaceful honest and temperate life of the farmer is the best and safest life that can be lived. This is a lesson greatly needed at this time and Nasby is the man to teach it

The New York Times trusts that the condition of affairs in Michigan will call the attention of the public all over the country of the absolute necessity of putting a stop, by constitutional restrictions to the growing practice on the part of towns counties cities and States of voting away the property of the minority in aid of schemes, which though in one sense they may be called public improvements, are in a very great degree if not for the most part private enterprises—that is, enterprises resulting in private gain and conducted for private gain

A recent cable dispatch gives the following in relation to Dickens' last work. Strong fears have been entertained that Dickens, in dying had left uncompleted his latest work of fiction, the 'Mystery of Edwin Drood,' and it has been averred by various journals that this was a fact. Mr Dickens publishers, however have made an estimate as to the condition of this romance, which is calculated to set at rest any doubt as to the completion of the story. They say that besides the installments of the novel already published they have received sufficient material for three additional numbers the composition of which has been completed. Besides these chapters, Mr Dickens left a mass of memoranda almost sufficient to complete the narrative and partially assist in the solution of the mystery surrounding the hero

In order to amuse the children a lady was engaged in reading from the Bible the story of David and Goliah and came to the passage in which Goliah so boastingly and defiantly dared the young stripling a little chap almost in his first trowsers said "Sister skip that—skip that he's blowing. PRIVATE LIFE OF CHARLES DICKENS.

His Separation from his Wife Interesting Particulars

Shortly after the publication of Pickwick Mr Dickens married the daughter of the late Mr Hogarth the author and critic. He separated from her in 1858 and as the event called forth a great deal of ill natured comment the following letter was written for the purpose of being shown to the public:

MY DEAR —: Mrs Dickens and I have lived unhappily together for many years. Hardly any one who has known us intimately can fail to have known that we are in all respects of character and temperament wonderfully unsuited to each other. I suppose that no two people not vicious in themselves ever were joined together who had greater difficulty in understanding one another or who had less in common. An attached woman servant (more friends to both of us than a servant) who lived with us sixteen years and is now married and who was and still is in Mrs Dickens's confidence and mine who had the closest familiar experience of this unhappiness in London in the country in France, in Italy wherever we have been year after year month after month week after week, day after day will bear testimony to this

Nothing has, on any occasions, stood between us and a separation but Mrs Dickens's sister Georgina Hogarth From the age of 15 she has devoted herself to our house and children She has been their playmate nurse, instructress friend, protectress, adviser and companion In the manly consideration toward Mrs Dickens which I owe to my wife I will merely remark of her that the peculiarity of her character has thrown all the care of the children on some one else I do not know—I cannot by any stretch of fancy imagine—what would have become of them but for this aunt who has grown up with them, to whom they are devoted, and who has sacrificed the best part of her youth and life to them.

She has remonstrated, reasoned, suffered, and toiled, and come again to prevent a separation between Mrs Dickens and me Mrs Dickens has often expressed to her her sense of her affectionate care and devotion in the house—never more strongly than in the last twelve months

For some years past Mrs Dickens has been in the habit of representing to me that it would be better for her to go away and live apart, that her always increasing estrangement made a mental disorder under which she sometimes labors more that she felt herself unfit for the life she had to lead as my wife, and that she would be far better away I have uniformly replied that she must bear our misfortune and fight the fight out to the end; that the children were the first consideration, and that I feared they must bind us together "in appearance."

At length, within these three week, it was suggested to me by Forster that even for their sakes, it would be better to reconstruct and re-arrange the unhappy home I empowered him to treat with Mrs Dickens as the friend of both of us for one and twenty years Mrs Dickens wished to add on her part Mark Lemon, and did so On Saturday last Lemon wrote to Forster that Mrs Dickens gratefully and thankfully accepted the terms I proposed to her Of the pecuniary part of them, I will say that they are as generous as if Mrs Dickens were a lady of distinction and I a man of fortune

The remaining parts of them are easily described—my eldest boy to live with Mrs Dickens, and to take care of her, my eldest girl to keep my house; both my girls and all my children but the eldest son to live with me in continued companionship of their Aunt Georgina, for whom they have all the tenderest affections that I have ever seen among young people and who has a higher claim (as I have often declared for many years) upon my affection, respect, and gratitude than anybody in this world.

I hope that no one who may become acquainted with what I write here can possibly be so cruel and unjust as to put any misconstruction on our separation so far. My older children all understood it perfectly, and all accept it as inevitable.

There is not a shadow of doubt or concealment among us. My eldest son and I are one as to it all

Two wicked persons, who should have spoken very different of me, in consideration of earned respect and gratitude, have (as I am told, and indeed to my personal knowledge) coupled with this separation the name of a young lady for whom I have a great attachment and regard I will not repeat the name—I honor it too much Upon my soul and honor, there is not on this earth a more virtuous and spotless creature than that young lady. I know her to be innocent and pure, and as good as my own daughters

Further, I am quite sure that Mrs Dickens having received this assurance from me must now believe it, in the respect I know her to have for me, and and in the perfect confidence I know her, in her better moments, to repose in my truthfulness

On this head, again, there is not a shadow of doubt or concealment between my children and me. All is open and plain among us as though we were brothers and sister They are perfectly certain that I would not deceive them, and the confidence among us is without a fear C. D.

HIS PRIVATE LIFE.

Mr Dickens's private life was singularly unobtrusive and withdrawn from the public eye. Years ago his domestic troubles made his family circle painfully conspicuous before the British people, and censure was freely bestowed upon one or the other party to the deplorable conjugal quarrel by the intimate friends of either But Dickens lived down the scandal, and it is a sufficient refutation of it perhaps, that his children have always manifested for him the tenderest affection One of these, a son, has grown up to man's estate, and is an honored member of society Another is the wife of Mr Charles Collins, author of After Dark, A Cruise on Wheels, and other novels, which have been overshadowed by the greater popularity of the writings of his brother, Mr Wilkie Collins

In London Dickens lived mostly at the Garrick Club, where he filled as large a place as John Dryden used to fill at Will's Coffee-House There was, at one time, some alarm created lest he should leave the Garrick, in consequence, as it was whispered of the fact that one of his friends and publishers had been black-balled there but the trouble was composed, and the Garrick knew him to the last. His town apartments were comfortably fitted up, but were not in the fashionable quarter They constituted the second floor of the house in Wellington street Strand, the lower part of which was occupied by the business office of All the Year Round Mayfair saw little of Dickens nor was Belgravia one of his familiar haunts We believe he was never presented at court but it was not long ago since his last return from the United States, that the Queen invited him to come and see her and he spent a day with her at Windsor Castle

When in London Dickens might be seen at dinner more frequently than anywhere else at Verrey's a restaurant in the upper part of Regent street where often with Wilkie Collins he sat at a little table in the corner reserved for him especially by the maitre d'hotel —N Y Evening Post

California has produced a bar of tin and it has been presented to the Society of Pioneers It is eight inches long four inches wide and two inches thick, contains by assay 97 08 per cent metallic tin with some tungsten and traces of antimony, arsenic sulphur and iron It is said to be the first bar, though the Engineering and Mining Journal says that a number of tons of rich tin ore was produced in the neighborhood of San Jacinto tin mine San Bernardino county more than ten years ago This will in time become an important industry in California The production of this bar of tin will create a flutter [illegible] among the free-traders, who will no doubt immediately bring their English batteries to bear upon it, and, if possible reduce it back to the original ore Nothing so hurts an American free-trader as to see his native land produce anything that his adopted England wishes to sell in this country

An Ohio man wants his wife arrested because she has "run off with a kind of reddish mulatter," which would seem a sufficient reason.

Disraeli and the Tories

[illegible] MAGAZINE

It is unnecessary to point out to the [illegible] the singular [illegible] Mr Disraeli's former novels that the [illegible] of Lothair [illegible] scarcely [illegible] expected [illegible] with the present third volume [illegible] will [illegible] anticipated that a [illegible] and still more remarkable [illegible] the commencement out of [illegible] in progress In fact we may whisper that the [illegible] have [illegible] present [illegible] the writer of the [illegible] Drury Lane [illegible] the staff of the [illegible] a celebrated [illegible] doctor who is in the habit of making [illegible] the conversation of his [illegible] Nothing whatever is said in Lothair about the preeminence of the Jewish race, which formed so prominent a feature in a former work In that preceding novel it was shown that most of the illustrious people at that time existing were of Hebrew blood. But a whole generation of celebrities had sprung into distinction since Mr Disraeli is not a man who abandons his ideas and it still remains for him to do justice to those which he most fondly cherishes. Accordingly in the continuation of Lothair a great many eminent persons of this time—such as Count Bismarck President Lopez, Generals Lee and Sherman, Messrs Blondin and Leotard, Herr Joachim Madame Patti, M Lesseps and Mr Fechter will be all proved to belong to the most illustrious of the tribes of Israel The Emperor of the French though a Jew can only claim affinity with an inferior tribe and Mr Gladstone if a Jew at all is of the posterity of Shimei who reviled David. The descent of the Rothschilds from the wealthy Israelite who supplied the materials for the golden calf is briefly but clearly traced through the money changers who were driven out of the temple All this, however, is merely episodical to the continuation of Lothair's history The struggle between the Protestant and Catholic friends of that hero for the possession of so important a proselyte which occurs in the present work is only introductory to the far more important contest that is to take place in the sequel The active and inquiring mind of Lothair has long occupied itself with the mysteries of the Jewish faith, and the Chief Rabbi is now his familiar friend The Bishop with his chaplain and trusty archdeacon brings a strong counter influence to work And as when two of rival parties contest a seat a candidate hostile to both may sometimes carry the election, so the astute Cardinal ever on the watch bears down at the head of his Monsignores on the devoted Lothair who has already began to talk of building a synagogue The rival ecclesiastics are indefatigable in their efforts, the Rabbi endeavors to have the Passover kept at Muriel, while the Bishop presses sausages on Lothair at breakfast, and the Cardinal tries to entrap him into eating ham sandwiches at lunch A domestic circumstances renders the triple contest more exciting, for at this juncture the Cynosure of the Empyrean is confined of twins and how they shall be baptized is a matter which is rightly judged to be of immense importance The Bishop is perpetually dodging about the nursery followed by his chaplain bearing a portable font The Monsignores defeat his design by spreading a scandalous report that he and the chaplain are trying to make love to the nurses The eighth day, so important in the rites of the Jewish Church approaches On the seventh night after the birth the Cardinal seeks Lothair in great agitation and makes the most astonishing revelation He has discovered in the family archives absolute proof that Lothair's grandfather who is buried in the alabaster tomb was his (the Cardinal's) father and that moreover he was a Jew of the noblest blood Not only does the remorseful prelate abandon his attempt to convert Lothair to Romanism, but he announces his own intention to embrace the religion of Moses, deferring it only till he can go to Rome and try to bring the Pope over with him to the new creed This decides the wavering Lothair in spite of the Lady Corisande The next morning the twins to the great disgust of the Bishop and the Duke's family are duly admitted into the Hebrew community with all due ceremonies, and receive the names of Moses and Aaron Both are also called Tussaud after their grandmother Lord Moses Tussaud Lothair as he grows up shows a princely prodigality of disposition and attests the purity of his race by an early leaning towards Mosaic jewelry and further by a proposal (which greatly exasperates his noble parent) to sell the gold railing of his grandfather's tomb Lord Aaron the younger twin is of an intellectual and speculative turn of mind, and devotes himself to the establishment of one church by the restoration not of Christendom but of Israel, and to the [illegible] of the Aryan races from [illegible] by means of art of which he is himself a disciple, having an hereditary talent for modeling in wax We will not reveal any more of this exciting work—the demand for which will doubtless be unparalleled—further than to note that it contains a remarkable peculiarity respecting the doctrines of the Hebrew for instead of treating the coming of the Jewish Messiah as prospective it is hinted that he is now on earth and has been for about 65 years —Blackwood's Magazine for June

THE FEMALE BROKERS [illegible] The American tea trade is threatened with a monopoly by a firm of ladies Under our new regime, woman has resolved she will no longer be only a tea drinker she aspires to be a tea trader Mme Demorest, the Sorosian and queen fashionist, has formed a copartnership with a lady whose name (not yet permitted to be made public) is a synonym for practical good sense and success in financial operations They will embark in company at an early day for London via Liverpool Mme Demorest will remain in London until she hears from her colleague who proceeds direct to Canton Here she will take up her residence among the celestials and become celestialized as far as possible She will purchase real estate in the city, and a 'chop' or tea plantation in the country and thus identify her interests with the worshipers of Confucius From her residence in Canton she with her numerous lady agents, will make canvassing excursions all over the Celestial Empire and in person purchase the tea from the producers themselves on their own 'chops'

The teas will be shipped from Canton under her superintendence, assisted by her lady officials Mme Demorest is to be the receiver at this port, and the chief of the two large warehouses one up and the other down town where the teas are to be stored She will direct the hundreds of young ladies who will act as canvassers and agents for the firm all over the United States and will occasionally visit Liverpool, London and European ports The ladies of the new tea firm express the most unbounded confidence in the success of their enterprise They base their hopes not only in the capital of $500 000 at their command but also upon the fact that the business is peculiarly suitable for women in all its details and its pursuit calculated to do more than any undertaking of the period to enlarge the sphere of woman's influence and increase her means of remunerative employment —N Y Sun June 11

RAVAGES OF DOGS The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture for March and April gives a partial enumeration of the sheep killed the past year by dogs as returned from 417 counties aggregating [illegible] and showing that a complete enumeration would bring the number up to at least half a million sheep killed, and as many more wounded involving an actual loss of two million dollars Illinois and Missouri are the two largest sufferers In view of the above facts, the report very sensibly suggests that while a reduction of taxes is the tendency of the times a tax by the general Government upon dogs like that of British and European Governments would prove a hundred fold more benefit than hardship relieving the poor of the great burden of keeping them and society of the intolerable nuisance of worthless dogs at the same time improving the animals worth the value of a tax and taking from the industry of wool growing one of the greatest burdens of taxation

Vinnie Ream writes from Rome that she hopes to have her Lincoln statue completed by January next. She will accompany it to America in February next, and present it to Congress before it adjourns She will spend the summer and autumn at Carrara at work on the marble

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence [illegible] indulgence [illegible] from virus absorbed into the system, [illegible] the pallid objects [illegible] the broken-down [illegible] unfitting them [illegible] happiness of marriage [illegible] situation [illegible] the scene Let parents, guardians [illegible] any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days in posing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse, This solitary [illegible] vice [illegible] indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sword to certificates, dupe the unwary Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths shoe makers newspaper carriers, in all ages office keepers etc Look over the San Francisco Directory an dyou will not find their Medical Institute but you will find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will only cost a trifling, and may save you many regrets for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them unless you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates or pretended patient's letters etc Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure
